

With a Honeywell generator, the average power outage lasts a mere 15 seconds.

It fuels automatically.
It starts and stops automatically.

Reliable electricity is easy to take for granted—at the touch of a switch, it's there. Weather-related outages continue to make news across the country, while demand on an aging power grid makes brownouts a common occurrence. Your home relies on power to run your refrigeration, lights, well pump, HVAC, appliances, home offices, entertainment systems and more. Trust a Honeywell automatic backup generator to protect what matters most during a power outage, whether you're home or away.
